JULIAN MARTIN: TRANSFORMER
A 25 YEAR RETROSPECTIVE

Arts Project Australia launches its next major retrospective exhibition this month Julian Martin: Transformer, curated by Dr Cheryl Daye and opened by Rupert Myer AM.

Original interpretations of everyday objects, popular figures and pure colour play a pivotal role in the extraordinary work of Julian Martin. Over two decades his work has evolved as a journey of formal transformation where the mundane becomes mysterious, and the image ineffable.

Executive Director Sue Roff commented that, 'Attending the studio since 1988, Julian Martin has developed a distinctive artistic style that has met with wide critical acclaim'.

'In 1994 Martin was a finalist in the prestigious Moët & Chandon Travelling Fellowship and has since been included in major art events and prizes both in Australia and overseas', says Gallery Manager and Curator Sim Luttin.

Exhibition curator Dr Cheryl Daye says that, 'Martin transforms the world as we know it. As a society, when we think about art and artists, we contemplate their form and function, part of which is to provide insight into experience and to evoke a sense of revelation. We are moved to see the world in a different way. As an artist, Julian Martin offers us all this and more'.

‘Throughout twenty years of experimentation with pastel, Martin has not only shown an interest in the rich terrain where abstraction and representation coalesce, but has paid keen attention to surface, texture, and how accumulative and reductive strategies might be explored in drawing’, says Alex Baker, Director, Fleisher Ollman gallery, USA.

Julian Martin: Transformer is supported by a full colour Leonard Joel Series catalogue: the fourth in the series.

Arts Project Australia celebrates its 40th Anniversary in 2014; these are featured exhibitions in Arts Project’s extensive 2014 exhibition and event program.

The artist and curator are available for interview. High-resolution images are available immediately on request and the artist can be photographed with his work. Julian Martin: Transformer is on at Arts Project Australia Saturday 30 August – Saturday 4 October 2014 at 24 High St Northcote VIC 3070. The gallery is open Monday – Friday 9am-5pm, Saturday 10am-5pm.
